State Ask Contractors For Bids On Secondary Roads

Contractors have been asked by the State Dept. of Highways and Transportation to offer bids on February 28 for bituminous surface treatment projects on secondary roads, light-duty primary highways, and shoulders of some interstate highways.

The work is performed by spraying bituminous material from the spray bar of a tank truck, which seals the worn roadway surface from water damage. Aggregate stone is then spread and rolled to form a new leveled riding surface that helps protect the roadway base.

About 18.3 million gallons of bituminous material and 625,000 tons of aggregate covering stone will be used.

The state expects to surface-treat about 5,600 miles of roads during 1978. Bids for asphalt plant - mixed resurfacing on heavy-duty primary and interstate highways will be received in April.
